

Human Services or Early Childhood Program Administration Minor with CDS Major

As a Speech-Language Pathologist, a Human Services Program Administration or Early Childhood Program Administration minor will prepare you to interact with and counsel individuals and their families alongside other professionals in various settings. Working with families is especially important if you envision yourself working in Early Intervention with the Birth-3 population, with individuals with significant disabilities, or with adults who are no longer able to function independently. A background in Human Services Program Administration or Early Childhood Program Administration also offers career choices after earning a bachelor's degree if you choose not to continue on to graduate school and different graduate school opportunities.
